Proposed New Sites

Old Mill Park: Located in one of the most historic locations in Roswell, the Old Mill Park offers visitors access to history, nature and fitness. The art location sits above Roswell's covered bridge that leads to Vickery Creek, part of the Chattahoochee National Recreation Area. Roswell's old machine shop, which is currently being renovated into an events facility, is next to the covered bridge and can be seen from the sculpture placement. The sculpture will be situated on a small grassy knoll between two trees, just off the main walkway.

City Hall Complex/pathway to Cultural Arts Center: As part of the main city hall complex, this walkway is the entrance to a foot bridge that connect Roswell's Cultural Arts Center to parking and the main city hall complex. The art location sits between the main gazebo entrance to the bridge and a street lamp post. The Cultural Arts Center is home to live performances, puppet series, a resident theatre company and Roswell's Historical Society.

Hembree Park: Hembree Park Recreation Center offers various facilities, camps, and spaces for sport, recreational, or event use. Art location is at intersection of park on grassy area, leading to recreation center, walking trails or tennis courts. It is in the interior of the park, but at the major intersection of the main driveway leading visitors from the entrance to the recreation center.

Arts Center West at Leita Thompson Park: Arts Center West is home to Roswell's clay and ceramics studios, as well as a new blacksmith studio (opening Fall 2017). The art location is close to the entrance of the park on a grassy flat area, in front of a white picket fence. From this location, visitors can enter to access hiking trails, dog parks, and the arts center.

Adult Recreation Center: The adult recreation center is home to senior programming and a new adult aquatic center. The art location is just outside the main entrance to the brick building and along the main driveway as visitors pull into the main parking area.
